

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

iSectors® Announces Tactical Global Balanced Allocation Model

Appleton, Wisconsin, February 18, 2011. iSectors, LLC, announces the availability of the iSectors® Tactical Global Balanced Allocation model. This is the newest addition to iSectors' comprehensive suite of 21 ETF-based asset allocation models.

The model is designed around a systematically-employed, objective algorithm that utilizes a trend-following methodology to allocate among the model's targeted asset classes and to cash. The model's objective is to be in cash during prolonged declines in individual asset classes to reduce overall portfolio drawdown. Targeted asset classes include bonds, commodities, domestic large and small cap equities, emerging and international equities, gold and real estate. Using this objective algorithm, the model systematically invests in those asset classes which offer the potential for favorable returns while avoiding those asset classes that are in potentially protracted declines.

All iSectors ETF-based allocation models are available as separate accounts through professional advisors on turnkey asset management platforms. iSectors ETF-based asset allocation models are cost-effective, diversified, liquid, transparent and accessible to investors with a minimum investment as low as $25,000. All iSectors account holdings, transactions, performance and tax information is updated daily and accessible to advisors or clients online.
